

VeriPath Platform Terms and Conditions

Last Updated: June 2026

Welcome to VeriPath. By accessing or using our automated export infrastructure platform ("the Service"), you ("the Client" or "Exporter") agree to be bound by these Terms and Conditions.

1. Scope of Service

VeriPath provides software infrastructure that automates compliance data organization and executes automated data entry into external state portals (including KenTrade, KEPHIS, and KRA) via server-side automation tools.

2. Data Ownership and License

Client Data: The Client retains all ownership, rights, and intellectual property over all outgrower lists, farm polygons, weight metrics, and certificates uploaded to the platform.

License to Host: The Client grants VeriPath a secure, limited, non-exclusive license to host, process, and transmit this data strictly to execute the automation services requested.

3. Data Aggregation and Trend Analytics (Opt-In Clause)

Anonymization Protocol: VeriPath processes and removes all direct identifiers (such as corporate names, individual outgrower names, and specific container numbers) from historical shipment and yield logs to create an unidentifiable, aggregated dataset.

Usage Rights: The Client grants VeriPath the explicit right to use this fully anonymized, high-level regional macro-data for research, market analytics, industrial reporting, and third-party data distribution.

Incentive Program: Clients participating in the macro-data aggregation pool are eligible for platform subscription discounts as detailed in their active Service Level Agreement (SLA).

4. Third-Party Portals and External Automation Limitations

Nature of Service: The Client acknowledges that VeriPath utilizes background automation frameworks (including headless browser engines) to interact with public government portals on the Client's behalf, utilizing credentials safely provided by the Client.

Limitation of Liability: VeriPath acts solely as a processing utility. VeriPath is not liable for cargo delays, demurrage costs, port dwell times, financial penalties, or shipment rejections resulting from:

Unscheduled downtime, script blockages, or technical failures on government platforms (KenTrade, KEPHIS, KRA); Inaccurate, incomplete, or corrupted data uploaded by the Client.

5. Compliance and Data Protection

VeriPath operates in strict compliance with the Kenya Data Protection Act. All personal outgrower records are encrypted in transit and at rest. VeriPath will never sell, lease, or expose identifiable personal or corporate data to third parties without direct statutory authorization.
